

The German Origins of Charles Jones, aka Johann Carl Schantz, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and Monckton, New Brunswick

Another member of the group of Monckton settlers from Philadelphia in 1766 is traced back to Germany.

By Rick Crume, with genealogical research by Dawn Edlund, November 2008

Monckton traces its origins back to the city founded in 1890, the town incorporated in 1855, Monckton Parish formed in 1786 and Monckton Township established in 1765. Among the earliest English-speaking settlers of Monckton Township were five families who came from Philadelphia in 1766. Four of these families had German-sounding names: Lutz/Lutes, Sommer/Summers, Steeves and Trites. Les Bowser successfully traced the Steeves family back to Germany where the progenitor Henry Steeves was known as Heinrich Stief. But the origins of the family headed by Charles and Margaret Jones stumped him. With the most common last name in Wales, the family was assumed to be of Welsh origin. Researching a family with a common name like Jones is a daunting task and extensive research in Pennsylvania and Welsh resources turned up nothing.

But Les persevered and made an exciting discovery. As it turned out, Charles Jones had changed his name—and so dramatically that the connection would elude most people. On April 27, 1766, the same day they would leave for Monckton, Jacob Stief and Catharina Lutz witnessed the baptisms of Anna Margretha and Catharina Elisabeth Schantz, daughters of Carl and Margretha Schantz, in St. Michael's Lutheran Church in Philadelphia. Comparing the Schantz and Jones families, Les found several parallels, including matching years of birth for the Schantz and Jones daughters. Closer inspection revealed that the Schantz family of Pennsylvania became the Jones family in New Brunswick. The parents Carl and Margretha became Charles and Margaret and their daughters Anna Margretha and Catharina Elisabeth became Margaret and Catherine. For details of Les's crack detective work, see his book, The Search for Heinrich Stief: A Genealogist on the Loose (Halifax, N.S.: Nimbus Publ. Ltd., 2001).

With the revelation that Charles Jones was originally Carl Schantz, I set out to trace his likely German origins. Passenger lists show the arrival in Philadelphia of Carl and Jacob Schantz on the ship Lydia on or not long before 9 October 1749. Under Captain John Randolph, the ship came from Rotterdam via Cowes, England, and carried more than 150 passengers, mostly Palatines from southwest Germany. Men over age sixteen took an oath at the courthouse, vowing fidelity to King George II of England and revoking their allegiance to other rulers. On 13 October 1749, Jacob Schantz signed his name, while Carl Schantz signed with his mark.^{1, 2, 3}

The International Genealogical Index (IGI) on FamilySearch, www.familysearch.org, indexes many German births and marriages. Among them are several entries for the name Carl Schantz or Shanz in Gondelsheim, Baden. Just 14.5 miles from Karlsruhe and 43 miles from Stuttgart, Gondelsheim is located in a hilly region dotted with lakes. It's a predominately Protestant village dating back to at least the year 1257. Referring to the original Lutheran church records from Gondelsheim for more details, here's what I found on Jacob and Carl Schantz:

- Johann Jacob Schantz, born or baptized 2 September 1718, a son of Johann Schantz and Margaretha
- Johann Carl Schantz, born (Oct.?) 1721, a son of Johannes Schantz and Anna Margaretha
- Hanß Carl Schantz, born 19 October 1721, died 7 March 1795, a son of Johann Georg (Jörg) Schantz and Anna Rüdi
- Johann Carl Schantz, married 27 November 1742, Maria Catharina Engelhard

Rick Crume welcomes additions and corrections to this article and will post an updated report on the Charles Jones family on his Web site, www.onelibrary.com/Genealogy. - Johann Carl Schanz, widower, married 24 January 1747, to Maria Catharina Retzen

Apparently there were two people named Carl Schanz born in the same year in Gondelsheim. One stayed there, married twice and died in 1795. The other Carl emigrated with his brother Jacob in 1749, settled near Philadelphia and moved with his family to Moncton in 1766. They were part of a wave of Protestants who left the Palatinate area of southwest Germany in the eighteenth century seeking religious freedom and better economic conditions.

GENEALOGICAL SUMMARY

Generation One

1. Johannes⁴ (or Johann) Schantz (or Schanz), married, 16 November 1717, Gondelsheim, Baden, Germany, Anna Margaretha Voltz. The registers of the Lutheran church of Gondelsheim record their marriage and the births or baptisms of these children:⁴

- + 2 i. JOHANN¹ JACOB SCHANTZ, born or baptized 2 September 1718.
- ii. ANNA MARIA SCHANTZ, born or baptized 12 March 1720.
- + 3 iii. JOHANN CARL SCHANTZ, born 1721.
- iv. JÖRG PHILIPP SCHANZ, born or baptized 22 January 1724.
- v. ANNA CATHARINA SCHANZ, born or baptized (7?) January 1727.

Generation Two

2. Johann Jacob¹ Schantz (Johannes⁴), born or baptized 2 September 1718, Gondelsheim.⁵ He came to Pennsylvania with his brother Carl in 1749. A Jacob Shantz was naturalized, apparently in 1750, in Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania.⁶ He could also be the Jacob Shantz who was an executor of the will of Henry Groob of New Hanover, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, on 15 February 1782.⁷ And he could be the Jacob Schantz of Berwick Township, York County, Pennsylvania, whose will, dated 13 August 1790, was proved 25 March 1795. The will names a wife Susanna and children Henry, Peter, Jacob, Juliana and Elizabeth.⁸

3. Johann Carl Schantz, born 1721, Gondelsheim.⁹ The emigrant Johann Carl Schantz married, 6 December 1752, Philadelphia, Margretha Lintz.¹⁰ She was probably related to Matthias Lentz, one of the nine signers of the Articles in Agreement in Philadelphia on 27 January 1766.¹¹ The signers agreed to move to Monckton Township, Nova Scotia (now New Brunswick) and live there for at least four years. However, Matthias Lentz was one of four signers who ended up not going.

"The History of Moncton Township," by A. C. Pincomb, tells about Charles Jones's agreement to settle in Moncton (then usually spelled Monckton):

A Yeoman, Charles Jones, his wife; 2 sons—Henry, John; daughter Margaret arrived 20 June 1766 with Captain Hall at Hall's Creek. Jones had signed an agreement with John Hughes on 27 January 1766 and set sail in April of that year.

Upon ending his agreement with the proprietors and receiving the title to his grant, his heirs received 55 pounds in damages; 7 pounds / 17 shillings / 3d in costs. The grant began at Island Creek joining Mr. Stief from then extending down river to the westerly boundary of lands granted to Charles Baker and extending back to form an equal square containing 2,163 acres of marsh and uplands.

Charles Jones may have died in about 1774 in Moncton.¹²

Johann Carl Schantz and Margretha had four known children. Sometime after moving to Moncton Township in 1766, members of the family took Anglicized versions of their names.

- + 4 i. JOHANNES² SCHANTZ, aka JOHN JONES, was born 23 August 1753,¹³ and died in 1810.

Generation Three

4. Johannes² Schantz, aka John Jones (Johann Carl¹, Johannes⁴), was born 23 August 1753 and died in 1810. As Johannes Schantz, he was baptized 16 December 1754 at St. Michael's Lutheran Church, Germantown, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, a son of Carl and Margaretha Schantz.^{18, 19} He was known as John Jones in New Brunswick, married Dimas Daniels, a daughter of William Daniels Sr. and his wife Martha.²⁰

diked marsh and one horse each. John had six cows, two oxen, five young cattle and fourteen sheep.²¹

John and his brother Henry brought lawsuits claiming that John Hughes, the merchant of Philadelphia, failed to fulfill the terms of his agreement with their father Charles. John and Henry obtained a sheriff's deed for "2263 acres of Marsh and upland, Beginning at Island Creek, joining to Mr. Steef from thence extending down the River to a pine tree marked NO. 4, to extend back to an equal square to take in the number of acres above mentioned." Apparently, the brothers also recovered a debt of 68 pounds 10 shillings from Hughes.²²

John Jones and Dimas had ten children.

i. EDWARD ROBERT JONES was born in 1791 in N.B. and died after 1851. He was married in Westmorland County, New Brunswick on 12 June 1812²³ to Prudence Milton or Mitton.

ii. ANN C. (NANCY) JONES was born in about 1792²⁴ and died in July 1880.²⁵ She married Samuel Steeves.

iii. MARGARET JONES was born between 1788 and 1793 in Moncton Parish, Westmorland County, N.B., and died 20 January 1877 in Goose River, Cumberland Co., N.S.²⁶ She was married in Westmorland County, New Brunswick on 30 December 1812 to Samuel Mills.

Aaron was mentioned in The Times, 19 June 1889:⁴⁴

Aaron Jones, who is one of the very oldest citizens of Moncton, lately took a drive through the western part of the town. Mr. Jones is 82 years old and a native of Moncton, having been born on the Salisbury road only six miles from town. In early youth he determined to be a merchant. In the year 1843 he moved to Moncton, built the first two-storey house ever erected in this town and started a general store. Tobacco, tea, sugar, flour, pork, etc. was his stock and Mr. Jones also sold a little of the 'ardent' by the way of a change...

Aaron's obituary appeared in The Daily Sun, Moncton, 8 July 1895:^{45, 46}

Aaron Jones, one of the old landmarks in Moncton, died yesterday after an illness of about two months. Deceased was born on the Salisbury Road, some eight miles from what is now the town of Moncton and remained there all his life, up to within 15 years, since which time he has lived in town. He owned considerable real estate, at one

x. ASA JONES.

5. Henry Jones was born in 1758, died 20 January 1840 and is buried in the Pioneer Cemetery, Salisbury Parish, Westmorland County, N.B.⁴⁷ He married Christenah Somers, who was born in about 1762 and died after 1851. She was a daughter of Matthias Sommer and his wife Maria Christiana Null.

A Westmorland County, New Brunswick, survey taken by Stephen Millidge, dated 18 March 1788,⁴⁸ tells how the brothers John and Henry Jones tried to take possession of the land their father Charles had settled.

Two sons, the only male heirs of Charles Jones, who came to this country about 20 years ago, in order to settle lands under John Hughes, Merc.[hant] of Philadelphia. Charles Jones died about 14 years since, and left his family unsettled, the proprietor not having performed his agreement with him. At the time the present and principal occupants of this Township, commenced lawsuits, the present John and Henry Jones being of the number obtained a Sheriff's deed of 2263 acres of marsh and upland, beginning at Island Creek joining to Mr. Steef, from thence extending down the River to a pine tree marked No. 4 to extend back to an equal square to take in the number of acres above mentioned. The debt recovered was for the sum of 68" 10. The boundaries as above described and the improvement are marked on the plan.

The 1788 survey also says that John and Henry Jones had lived on the Monkton lands for eight years and had fourteen acres of cleared upland, 60 ½ acres of diked marsh and one horse each. John had six cows, two oxen, five young cattle and fourteen sheep, while Henry had seven cows, four oxen, seven young cattle and fourteen sheep.

By his will, dated May 23, 1829, Henry Jones left his house and all his land, buildings, stock, and farming implements to his youngest son, Moses, and £16 yearly to his wife Christenah, plus the use of his house. He also left £10, paid in two installments, to each of his other sons and daughters and the heirs of his daughter Mariah, deceased. His son Henry received 20 shillings, in addition what he had already received. His wife, Christenah, oldest son Charles and "trustworthy friend" Solomon Trites were named executors.⁴⁹

The 1851 census of Moncton, Westmorland County, N.B.⁵⁰ shows that "Christener Jones," a widow, age 89 and a native of New Brunswick of Dutch descent, was living with the family of her son Moses.

Henry Jones and Christina Somers had nine children.

i. CATHERINE JONES was married, 29 February 1816 in Westmorland County, N.B.,⁵¹ to Job Steeves.

ii. CHARLES JONES was born in 1781 in N.B., died 23 October 1850 in Salisbury, Westmorland County, N.B.⁵² and is buried in the Pioneer Cemetery in Salisbury. iii. JACOB JONES was born in Salisbury Parish, Westmorland County, New Brunswick in about 1784 and died 10 May 1868 at Petitcodiac, Westmorland County. A member of the First Salisbury Baptist Church, "he was not a man of many words, but sound in principle."⁵⁷ He was married 8 Dec. 1804⁵⁸ to Hannah Corey, widow of Edmund Price, Jr. "They first settled at New Canaan [Queens County, N.B.], where a grant of land was issued to them in 1809."⁵⁹ About the year 1820, they exchanged their New Canaan farm for one on the North River, owned by Rev. Charles Lewis, but seem to have settled on the Petitcodiac, some three miles downstream from the village of Petitcodiac.⁶⁰ Jacob is listed in the 1851⁶¹ and 1861⁶² censuses of Salisbury Parish. Jacob and Hannah are buried in the Second Salisbury Baptist Church Burial Ground.⁶³

iv. MARIAH (MIRIAM) JONES was born in 1786 and died 11 December 1823. She was married 16 January 1806 in Westmorland County, N.B.,⁶⁴ to Ralph Colpitts.

binding the poles at the front of the wagon, was pressing down on the other end when the treacherous pole snapped at the middle and he was precipitated head foremost to the earth. The man with him sprang to intercept his fall, but was too late. His forehead struck the ground and his neck was broken. Mr. Jones was in his 81st year. He leaves four daughters and two sons. The funeral will take place Saturday, leaving his son's residence, Salisbury Road for Boundary Creek at 9 a.m. Moses Jones was son of the late Henry Jones and the youngest of five brothers, one of whom was Jacob Jones, father of Oliver Jones, Esq., Moncton. The family originally came from Germany and the connections in this country are numerous. The deceased took great delight in agricultural pursuits and had accumulated a considerable fortune. Deceased was 40 years a Magistrate.

6. Anna Margretha Schantz, aka Margaret Jones, was born in about December 1760,⁸⁴ baptized 26/27 April 1766 in Philadelphia⁸⁵ and died 15 April 1806. She married Abraham Treitz (Trites), who was born in about 1751 in Pennsylvania, was a member of the party who went from Pennsylvania to Moncton in 1766, and died 29 November 1810 in Moncton.⁸⁶ He was a son of Jacob Treitz (Trites) and his wife Rosanna. Abraham married, second, Experience, widow of Abel Gore.

The 1788 survey of Moncton Township says Abraham Trites had lived there for fourteen years and his property consisted of 33 acres of cleared upland, 55 acres of diked marsh, one horse, eight cows, six oxen, eleven young cattle and 37 sheep.⁸⁷

Abraham's will, dated 26 November 1810 and proved 17 December 1810, bequeaths property to his wife and children and calls on his sons Solomon and Charles to give his son John "Schooling fit for a Farmer," to teach his youngest daughter "to read and Christian Treitz (Trites), who was born 12 June 1759 and died 22 June 1836 in Moncton, a son of Jacob Trites and his wife Elisina. Catherine and Christian are buried in the Free Meeting House cemetery in Moncton.¹⁰¹

The 1788 survey of Moncton Township notes that Christian Trites had lived there for 22 years and lists his property: six acres cleared upland, 87 acres diked marsh, one horse, eight cows, five oxen, eleven young cattle and 24 sheep.¹⁰² Christian and Catherine had a fine home:

Christian [Trites] had by [1811] replaced his log house with a fine new brick home, the bricks made from marsh clay at his doorstep. [Col. Joseph] Gubbins found the house most impressive, for it was the first brick house he had seen in New Brunswick. The site of the house is now the corner of Euston and Albert Streets near the Gunningsville bridge.¹⁰³

Christian Trites was a large landowner:

Christian Trites built his first house of logs near where the Intercolonial Railway round house now stands. He afterwards built a frame house which was burned down and then a brick house which is believed to have occupied a site on the property purchased by Mr. Steeves on Bridge street. Bricks for this were made on the marsh near where the bridge now crosses. Christian Trites had two sons and seven daughters and as they grew up, he gave a farm to each. Mrs. John Jones got land next to the homestead and the other daughters, Mrs. Grant, Mrs. Gesner, Mrs. James Robertson, sr., Mrs. Steeves and Mrs. Steadman received lots in their order. Several residents of Moncton still remember Christian Trites when an old man and his only surviving son died here a few years ago. Jacob Trites, jr. got the land next in a westerly direction, taking up an immense tract, with a frontage of over half a mile on the river and
